undergoing instruction during the particular cycle. The school and the students claim to be proud of what they call their "democratic self-administration".

5. The following belong to the permanent staff of the Advanced Police School:

Dr. Stipp, Director of the School. Lawyer, who was employed by the Magistrat in Berlin - Tiergarten (British sector) prior to the Social Democratic victory in the elections of October 1946. He obtained his present position after the removal of the former director and his deputy, Gabelin and Neese.

Dr. Eberlein, Deputy Director. Former Protestant pastor and a graduate of Breslau University. In addition to his administrative duties he is an instructor in social psychology and ideology.

Bialek, not officially a member of the teaching staff, but the most frequent outside lecturer. He is the head of the Cultural - Political Department (Kulturpolitische Abteilung) of the German Administration of the Interior. Member of the Examining Committee.

Mrs. Dietz, Chief of the Secretariat.

Willi Bruhn, instructor in criminology. Former Chief of the Criminal Police in Potsdam and a leading functionary of the SED in Potsdam.

Dr. Ewert, instructor in law. A highly regarded legal expert, he is one of the few non-Communists (although a member of the SED) still tolerated at the Advanced Police School. Ewert may be dismissed soon, partly because of his refusal to move from his house in the U.S. sector at Berlin-Steglitz, Rothenburgstrasse 10.

Gericke, instructor in criminology. Formerly with the Berlin Police Präsidium. Gericke has occasionally remarked publicly that he is in contact with Western intelligence. It is therefore generally assumed that he is either an agent provocateur or mentally unbalanced. Apart from that, he is an outstanding fingerprint expert.

Hasse, instructor in police law. Arrived recently from Thuringia. Apparently without former police experience.

Henning, instructor in criminal psychology. Former Chief of Referat K-1 (Capital Crimes) of the Magdeburg Police. Very young. Former member of the SPD.

Huemmer, instructor in administrative law. Formerly with the Brandenburg Land Police, during the war pilot with the German Air Force. Fanatical Communist.

Kuehn, "ideology instructor". Old-time Communist, formerly with the Leipzig police.

Mendrella, instructor in criminal and trade law.

Stahl, police law instructor. Functionary of the SED in Berlin-Tempelhof, U.S. sector.
